Hi, I loved your work. I was learning Godot and used some of these assets to create a one-level game. Thank you for your amazing work! You can check out the game here: https://vsp193.itch.io/the-legend-of-taro

Glad it was useful, I didn't manage to beat the slime boss, but the game is well-made!

Hi Pixel-boy and AAA! I'm using Ninja Adventure in Cast, a cozy harbour-town game where my AI helpers each live in their own building, and in my future games too. The facesets are exactly the close-ups I wanted. You'll be credited by name in every game.

Thank you for making something this generous and this good!

Hello!
Thank you again for this! IT is perfect for my roguelike Game "Fox Arcana" that I'll release soon on Steam:

https://store.steampowered.com/app/3248700/Fox_Arcana/

This helped me a lot to start my game!

Can't wait for the next step of this pack!

You'll be in credits of course.

Thank you so much for this assets pack. It is by far one of the best out there! I have just released my studios first RPG based on a first time book by author Seth Witherow who I collaborated with :) . The game is called "Oblation: Prince of Corruption". You are mentioned in the games end credits. Thank you again! Here is the link to the trailer:

Hey, just a heads up, the in browser version doesnt seem to allow for left and up movements via wasd, but arrow keys work

Reply

pixel-boy 47 days ago

Ah, right, I'm French, so I might have set the controls to the ZQSD layout. I'll fix that if I can find some time later on, thanks for the heads-up!

Reply

chmod 755 47 days ago

That makes sense! Thank you for all your work, figured you would want to know, but this also makes a lot of sense!

lo siento pero podria poner animaciones de salto? por favor y gracias(Sorry, but could you add jumping animations? Please and thank you.)

Reply

pixel-boy 52 days ago

The new animations (Actor/CharacterAnimated) include a jump animation and the old also feature a jump frame (the 6th row).

Appreciate this asset pack alot. Thank you pixel-boy! Just curious what the contents of the next update will be? And if you have a future work roadmap.

Reply

pixel-boy 57 days ago

Thanks! We haven't finalized all the elements of the update yet, but there will at least be new tilesets to allow more variety in the environments.
I keep a local to-do list based on requests, but we could make it public.

Reply

FR33K1LL 41 days ago

Thats awesome looking forward to it. No pressure at all to make it public! If you do, let me know the link please :)

I don't know if this is the place to ask this question but I am using the godot project you made to kind of challenge myself to add things to it. I cannot for the life of me figure out what the ActorSprite is for.

Reply

pixel-boy 73 days ago

ActorSprite is a scene that handles the visual aspects of actors (characters, monsters, animals, etc.). The idea is to centralize visual elements, such as shadows and various effects like damage indicators or shake.

I wrote this code a long time ago and might approach it differently today, but generally speaking, I find it practical to separate the visual component from the logic, especially when there are many "actors" (for instance, it makes it easy to assign any character to the same entity).

Hi pixel-boy! Are you also the author of the I packs for the Superpowers engine?

Reply

pixel-boy 80 days ago (+1)

Yes, I am also the creator of these packs, they are available for free here:
https://github.com/sparklinlabs/superpowers-asset-packs

Ninja Adventure is the only one we continued working on and released on itch.io.

Reply

Hello! I absolutely love this and will definitely be using it to play around in Godot 4 as I learn the engine. Quick question: if you reach your $5,000 goal, what are the chances of getting a dungeon tileset or two?

Reply

pixel-boy 87 days ago (+1)

Thanks! I'll probably focus on new tilesets for the next update since they've been requested, I can add a dungeon one!

Reply

JRDK92 92 days ago

My suggestion: character creator module :D Face, clothing combos, simple UI haha.

Reply

pixel-boy 90 days ago

I had considered it, but I never took the time to do it, maybe one day!

Reply

KingBell 80 days ago

@Pixel-boy I can make that for you! I made Pixel Art Sprite Mixer to help indie devs in the same way. Can we collab?

Are these assets strictly for use in video games? I'm wondering, if I wanted to make something like a YouTube video, or a Twitch stream, can I use the assets for that? I don't want to if that's against the agreement, of course! I'm new to game development and have been having a lot of fun working with these assets in Godot for game jams, and I was just curious about the extent of the use of the CC0 license!

Reply

pixel-boy 116 days ago (+2)

Yes, you can!

I don't know what the furniture is like for this asset pack but it would be cool to add a bunch of furniture that has themes and sets. Something that leans into elaborate house decorating. That's always my favorite part of any rpg that has it.

Reply

pixel-boy 127 days ago

It's a bit limited at the moment, I'll add it to the todo list, thanks for the suggestion!

I hope that NinjaBlue will also have all these wonderful animations that the green one has (and maybe a few more).

That's my favorite character now :D

Reply

pixel-boy 177 days ago (+2)

I'm adding that to the todo list, I think we'll add more colored variaton in the next update, to compensate for the fact that there aren't many characters animated, thanks for your feedback!

i was also working on a zelda type game.. but my creativty fell off. i made some weapons and stuff, enemy mobs, trying to make interesting fight mechanics.. i just couldnt find anything that made the replay value fun. this seems way more chaotic tho. imagine making like a frost aura or flame aura.. i even made like "chain lighting" but this inspires me, i can combine elements like water and lighting.. i think what would make a game really good is making different sections of the game where the gameplay is different so you arent always using the same controls.. maybe a section with classic zelda style, and maybe an area like an archery range. but thanks this inspires me!.
